INTRODUCTION

PLEASE NOTE: This folio contains several differing approaches to guitar arranging. All arrangements are, however, true to the spirit of the original recordings.

PLAYING GUIDE

This section is to help familiarize the player with the symbols and terminology used in this book.

FINGERINGS

The left and right hand fingers are labeled in the following manner:

LEFT HAND

RIGHT HAND

FINGERPICKING

Right hand fingerings are applied to fingerpicking patterns in the following manner:

The thumb (t) plucks the 4th, 5th, or 6th strings, depending on which string has the root of the chord.

The index finger (i) always plucks the 3rd string.

The middle finger (m) always plucks the 2nd string.

The ring finger (r) always plucks the 1st string.

STRUMS

Strum rhythms are notated with slashes:

↓ - Down stroke

↑ - Up stroke

× - Choke (achieved by deadening the strings with the left hand while strumming)

TABLATURE

Some examples may include tablature notation. In tablature, a six line staff graphically represents the six strings of the guitar as follows:

A number is placed on the appropriate line to indicate where to fret the string. Rhythms are notated with stems as in traditional notation.

A Typical Fingerpicking Pattern In Tablature Notation

THE "FRACTION" SYSTEM

This simple fingering system is often used to indicate position of notes on the fretboard in a single-line, le passage. The top number of the fraction refers to the fret that is to be fingered. The bottom number refers to the string that is to be fretted.

$$\frac{2}{3} = \frac{2\text{nd fret}}{3\text{rd string}} = A$$

The fraction is placed below its corresponding note in the musical passage.

Table of Symbols

/ Repeat preceding beat.

% Repeat preceding measure.

// Repeat preceding two measures

|| Repeat signs. Repeat the measures between them.

1. First ending/second ending. Play through first ending, repeat and the second time, play the second ending instead of the first.

D.C. Da Capo. Instruction to repeat piece from the beginning.

D.S. Dal Segno. Instruction to play from the sign ().

oda Additional measures at the end of a song, marked "Coda ".

o Coda After a D.C. or D.S. instruction, this symbol is sometimes found. This means to jump to the Coda section of the song after repeating from the beginning D.C. or from the sign (D.S. ).

> Accent. Note (or group of notes) should be picked harder, emphasizing it over the rest.

Shake (or Vibrato). Accomplished by rapidly bending note back and forth with finger or vibrato bar.

Fall. Accomplished by sliding left hand down the neck (towards the head stock) after playing the given note or chord. This can also be done with a vibrato bar.

Slide (or Gliss). Slide finger up the fingerboard to the given note.

Strum. To brush pick across strings while fingering the given chord.

D.L. Double Lead. A lead guitar part, harmonized to be played by two guitarists. The parts are differentiated by the stem direction of the notes.

D.S. Double-Stop. Two notes on separate strings, usually fingered with the same finger. Not to be confused with D.S. .

Choked Notes. The left hand mutes the strings while the right hand strums the given rhythm.

Slur. Played by picking the first note, then fingering the second note without picking. A slur from a lower note to a higher note is also called a "Hammer-on". A slur from a higher pitch to a lower pitch is also called a "Pull-off."

Up-bend. Finger the note in parenthesis ( ) and bend up to the given pitch with the left hand.

Down-bend (or Release-bend). Released bend back down to original pitch.

Pre-bend. Bend note in parenthesis up to given pitch without sounding, then play to create a "Down-bend" effect.

Harmonics. Accomplished by fingering given pitch, then picking the string with both the pick and the thumb 12 frets above the fingered note.

8va Play given passage one octave higher.

WONDERLAND

Words and Music by
BIG COUNTRY

(Verse 1:) If you could feel how I must feel the winds of quiet change.

If you could see what I must see still hidden in the rain.
But when the thunder rolls, it comes and covers up my soul.
And you will take my hand and be with me in wonderland.

(Chorus:) I am an honest man, I need the love of you
I am a working man, I feel the winter too.

(Verse 2:) If you could hear what I must hear, then nothing would replace,
The fifty years of sweat and tears that never left a trace.
But when I look at you, I see, you feel the same way too.
And you will take my hand and be with me in wonderland.

(To Chorus:)

(Verse 3:) You still remember other days when every head was high.
I watched that pride be torn apart beneath a darker sky.
With innocence within ourselves we sing the same old song.
And you will be with me and make believe it's wonderland.

THE CROSSING

Words and Music by
STUART ADAMSON

(Verse 1:) Maps on the back of your hands point to the cross.
Scratches on walls in a room draw out your loss.
Your islands are conquered and you are returned to the throne
Martyrs take penance and fill up the mattress with stone.

(Chorus:) Pull straws with holy men, stain all the atlas pink.

And let us find a beach where we can cross our hearts.

(Bridge:) Stand in the wind as the carousels spin, wear out your welcome again.
Stand on the silence of mountains and wear out your welcome again.

(Verse 2:) Mornings hit hard with an uncontrollable light,
Piercing the senses that click deep in the night.
Crouched in a pillow of straw, feet on the floor.
Creeping a path to the mat that holds back the door.

(To Chorus:)

(Verse 3:) Build up great railways that run through hours of the moon.
Hold up a city with cast iron museum walls.
Explain your machines to the boys, feed them with tools.
Bring out the skill in your skin, polish your hair.

(To Chorus:)

(Bridge:)

Verse 2:

You know I'm sick of potential,
I'm sick of vanity now;
I'm sticking to essential reality now.
I don't know what's worse,
Trying to make a silk purse,
Living an illusion, living in confusion.

Verse 3:

Well, because the heart that you break
That's the one that you rely on.
The bed that you make
That's the one you gotta lie on.
When you point your finger 'cause your plan fell through,
You got three more fingers pointing back at you.

 They don't give a damn about any trumpet playin' band;
 It ain't what they call rock n' roll.

And then the man, he steps right up to the microphone
 And says, at last, just as the time-bell rings:
 "Good night, now it's time to go home."

 "We are the Sultans, we are the Sultans of Swing."

Born Under A Bad Sign: ALBERT KING

Not related to the other "Kings," B.B. and Freddie, Albert's unique style of blues-rock gets instant recognition. He's a powerful blues singer and guitarist with the authentic sound of a true original.

In "Born Under A Bad Sign," King uses the 2nd position blues scale, diagrammed below. To understand his solos in this tune, become familiar with this scale. Since it lies right above the 1st position scale on the fretboard, guitarists can move rapidly from one position to the other in the middle of a solo.

NILS LOFGREN

Nils Lofgren, a versatile and exciting musician, plays hard-rock and slide guitar.

In "Cry Tough" Lofgren uses his slide style in regular tuning. He mixes fretted notes with long, sliding, sustained notes that require the use of a bottleneck. The solo alternates between a high G, 1st position blues scale on the 15th fret, and a G chord on the 10th fret:

This position is useful for slide technique. The guitarist can bar the G triad on the 12th fret with the slide, and find blues notes all around it. Here are notes to pick out around this position:

Johnny B. Goode ,
JOHNNY WINTER

Johnny Winter, one of the "meanest" players rock has produced, plays bottleneck style on electric and acoustic guitar.

In "Johnny B. Goode" (typical of Winter's choice of material), Winter uses the familiar Chuck Berry licks in the key of C, followed by a typical F chord, rock-style back-up. He plays bottleneck licks with either his little or ring finger, leaving the other fingers free to fret strings. He plays from the following position:

This is a blues position. Play the Cm chord to prepare for this scale. The solo ends back with 1st position C blues licks.

BARK AT THE MOON

By OZZY OSBOURNE

(Verse 1:) Screams break the silence, waking from the dead of night.

Vengeance is boiling, he's returned to kill the light.

Then, when he's found who he's looking for,

Listen in awe, and you'll hear him

Bark at the moon.

(Verse 2:) Years spent in torment, buried in a nameless grave.

Now he has risen, miracles would have to save.

Those that the beast is looking for

Listen in awe and you'll hear him

Bark at the moon.

(Chorus:) Hey, yeah, bark at the moon.

(Bridge:) They cursed and buried him along with shame,

And thought his timeless soul had gone, gone.

In empty burning hell unholy one,

But he's returned to prove them wrong, so wrong, ooh yeah, baby.

(Verse 3:) Howling in shadows, living in a lunar spell,

He finds his heaven, spewing from the mouth of hell.

Those that the beast is looking for,

Listen in awe, and you'll hear him

Bark at the moon.

(Chorus:) Hey, yeah, bark at the moon.

(Repeat Chorus:)
